At Boostlingo, we're reimagining interpretation through innovative technology that expands language access and improves communication globally. For healthcare providers, we offer both an interpreter management system for onsite interpreters employed by your practice, and on-demand virtual medical interpretation on any device. Our network of 13,000 interpreters for 300 languages all over the globe represents a chance for your practice to effectively serve more limited English proficient (LEP) patients. Boostlingo-qualified medical interpreters are HIPAA compliant and have at least 40 hours of medical terminology training and at least three years of experience. We can serve as the primary language support for your practice, or we can be a backstop for languages of lesser diffusion or replacement if staff is unavailable. Install the Boostlingo application on any device, choose your language, and get connected to a qualified interpreter in seconds. Additionally, we serve as a great solution for bringing interpreters into your growing telehealth practice with HIPAA-compliant, incredibly secure video conferencing and over-the-phone interpretation abilities. Our Open API allows your team to integrate the Boostlingo platform directly into your telehealth feed or use Boostlingo as the main platform for hosting telehealth conferences for your LEP patients. Providers like Urban Health Plan, Northern Nevada HOPES, Gold Skin Care, and more are using Boostlingo to cut costs and increase patient satisfaction, all while making life easier on their entire care team. Learn more today at boostlingo.com/healthcare.

D

Dexcom®

CONTINUOUS GLUCOSE MONITORING

Dexcom, Inc.

Chairman's Circle Member

6340 Sequence Drive

San Diego, CA 92121

dexcom.com

Contact: Bruce Taylor / 371.565.3274 /

bruce.taylor@dexcom.com

Dexcom, Inc. manufactures Real-Time continuous glucose monitoring (RT-CGM). This advanced glucose monitoring technology measures interstitial glucose levels and displays the current blood glucose level and direction and rate of change. This complete picture of glycemic activity helps guide disease management decisions (e.g., insulin dosage adjustments, changes in diet) to avoid glycemic excursions. For patients with hypoglycemia unawareness, the alarm function of RT-CGM devices may be their only warning of emerging hypoglycemia. The clinical benefits of RT-CGM technology over SMBG alone have been demonstrated in randomized controlled trials (RCTs). These studies have shown that, compared to SMBG alone, RT-CGM plus SMBG: Significantly reduces hemoglobin HbA1c (A1c) mean reduction of 0.5% and glycemic excursions without increasing hypoglycemic episodes over 3–12 months in adults with poorly or well controlled T1DM who are receiving intensive insulin therapy via insulin pump or multiple daily injections of insulin (MDI); improves diabetes-related quality of life (QoL) and treatment satisfaction in adults with T1DM; decreases the incidence of severe hypoglycemia by 46% (58% reduction in those aged 8–24 years and 32% reduction in those aged >25 years) in patients with poorly controlled T1DM receiving intensive insulin treatment. The Dexcom RT-CGM is indicated for adults and children 2 years of age and older. The Dexcom RT-CGM is a covered benefit for nearly all commercial payors in the U.S. Medicare provides coverage for intensively managed insulin-taking patients with Type 1 and Type 2, and a majority of state Medicaid programs cover for CGM.
