Zac Hille is the Senior Business Director of Cincinnati Children’s Physician Network.

In his role, Zac is responsible for the community-based primary care network, Community Health Services Network (‘CHSN’); Cincinnati Children’s Pediatric Physician Hospital Organization; and the management services organization. He is responsible for operations across the Physician Network and leads practice acquisitions and integration. Zac’s experience includes operations and finance in hospital, group practice, and clinically integrated network settings; and supporting physicians in private practice through management services arrangements, including health IT, revenue cycle, and practice management. Zac earned his Master of Health Services Administration from Xavier University.

Zac lives in suburban Cincinnati with his wife, three kids, and two large dogs. When they allow him the time, he enjoys hiking, camping, and all forms of grilling.
