John Morehous, M.D. is the Chief Medical Officer for Cincinnati Children’s Community Health Services Network (CHSN) and an Assistant Professor of Pediatrics at the University of Cincinnati College of Medicine. He also serves as the Vice President of Medical Affairs and Medical Director for Tri-State Child Health Services, a pediatric Physician-Hospital Organization based in Cincinnati, Ohio.

Dr. Morehous received a B.S. from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill and his medical degree from the University of Alabama-Birmingham School of Medicine. He completed his general Pediatric residency at Cincinnati Children’s Hospital Medical Center in 2003 and moved to Guntersville, Alabama, to be the third pediatrician in a vibrant, busy, rural pediatric practice.

In 2010, Dr. Morehous returned to CCHMC to pursue his growing interest in quality improvement science and to serve at the medical director of CCHMC’s newly opened Fairfield Primary Care. He transitioned to his current role in CHSN in late 2019, helping to grow the network from 1 practice and 2 locations to 5 practices with 9 locations. He continues his interest in quality improvement and helping bring the methodology to historically community-based practices and serving as faculty on the Ohio Perinatal Quality Collaborative. His primary focus for improvement is the delivery of services in primary care, from routine screenings in early childhood to improved care for adolescents suffering with depression.
