

Tues, Sept 9
1:00 – 1:20 pm	Setting the Stage: Making Sense of AI in Healthcare Bradley Locke, DO, Chief Medical Information Officer, Prevea Health Artificial intelligence is rapidly reshaping healthcare and no longer a future concept. But with rapid developments, bold claims, and a crowded vendor landscape, it can be challenging to separate hype from meaningful impact. This opening session will ground the audience in what AI really means for healthcare leaders, clarify key terms and trends, and offer a pragmatic lens through which to evaluate AI-powered solutions. You'll leave with a shared framework that prepares you to engage with the real-world case studies and demonstrations that follow.
1:30 – 3:30 pm	Tech Talks: AI In Action A series of 20-minute tech talks across 4 separate breakout rooms will showcase innovative AI applications that are driving measurable impact within health systems and medical groups. Each case study will provide a transparent overview of the AI solution, offering practical takeaways for healthcare leaders looking to integrate AI into their own organizations.
3:30 – 4:45 pm	AI Innovation Spotlights In this dynamic, interactive environment, selected AI solution providers will be able to demonstrate, in real-time, how their AI-powered technology is revolutionizing healthcare. From live simulations to interactive case studies, participants could experience firsthand how these innovations can enhance clinical workflows, improve patient outcomes, and drive operational efficiency.
4:45 – 5:00 pm	Bringing It Home: Turning AI Insights Into Action Bradley Locke, DO, Chief Medical Information Officer, Prevea Health After exploring demonstrations and engaging in hands-on experimentation, this final session brings us back to center—with a focus on what comes next. This closing session will offer a brief synthesis of key themes from the day, followed by 3–5 concrete actions leaders can take when they return to their organizations. From identifying quick wins to shaping long-term strategy, this wrap-up is designed to turn today's inspiration into meaningful momentum.
