At Coker, we are more than consultants. We take ownership of your challenges, roll up our sleeves, and get in the trenches with you to solve problems. Every situation has unique characteristics as hospitals and physician enterprises struggle to do more with less. We are committed to understanding your business and finding a solution that leads to real financial and operational impact. With the rapid changes in healthcare, there are no cookie-cutter solutions that work. Our experienced advisors observe your business and listen to you. Each circumstance is unique, and our advisors handcraft the right solution for you. We believe in showing our clients the most valuable part of our work – our thought process – rather than hiding behind a black box. We'll walk you through the Why of our action plan, not just tell you the How of our recommendations.

Dexcom, Inc.

Premier Corporate Partner

6340 Sequence Drive

San Diego, CA 92121

dexcom.com

Contact: Bruce Taylor / 371.565.3274 /

bruce.taylor@dexcom.com

Dexcom, Inc. manufactures Real-Time continuous glucose monitoring (RT-CGM). This advanced glucose monitoring technology measures interstitial glucose levels and displays the current blood glucose level and direction and rate of change. This complete picture of glycemic activity helps guide disease management decisions (e.g., insulin dosage adjustments, changes in diet) to avoid glycemic excursions. For patients with hypoglycemia unawareness, the alarm function of RT-CGM devices may be their only warning of emerging hypoglycemia. The clinical benefits of RT-CGM technology over SMBG alone have been demonstrated in randomized controlled trials (RCTs). These studies have shown that, compared to SMBG alone, RT-CGM plus SMBG: Significantly reduces hemoglobin HbA1c (A1c) mean reduction of 0.5% and glycemic excursions without increasing hypoglycemic episodes over 3-12 months in adults with poorly or well controlled T1DM who are receiving intensive insulin therapy via insulin pump or multiple daily injections of insulin (MDI). Improves diabetes-related quality of life (QoL) and treatment satisfaction in adults with T1DM. Decreases the incidence of severe hypoglycemia by 46% (58% reduction in those aged 8-24 years and 32% reduction in those aged >25 years) in patients with poorly controlled T1DM receiving intensive insulin treatment. The Dexcom RT-CGM is indicated for adults and children ages 2 years of age and older. The Dexcom RT-CGM is a covered benefit for nearly all commercial payors in the US. Medicare provides coverage for intensively managed insulin taking Type 1 and Type 2 patients, and a majority of state Medicaid programs cover for CGM.

Sheppard Mullin's healthcare law team works with medical groups of all sizes throughout the U.S., from smaller single-specialty medical groups to 200+ physician multispecialty medical groups, and with other types of physician-led organizations, including independent practice associations, accountable care organizations, and risk-based entities. Our team includes members from our corporate, tax, labor & employment, employee benefits, real estate, intellectual property, litigation, finance, government investigations, anti-trust and other practice groups. As a result, we are able to represent our healthcare clients seamlessly across the array of opportunities and challenges they face. Our dedicated healthcare M&A team represents buyers and sellers of medical groups, as well as other strategic and financial investors, in medical group acquisitions and sales, and is well versed in the unique obstacles and issues that arise in healthcare transactions. We frequently represent medical groups in their affiliations and other joint ventures with for-profit and non-profit hospitals/health systems, and we understand how to structure those relationships to achieve our clients' goals. We also serve as outside general counsel to our medical group clients, advising them on operational matters, including regulatory compliance, labor, contract review and negotiation, and the development of sophisticated physician compensation models. Vatica Health helps thousands of PCPs thrive in value-based care with a unique, hands-on application that simplifies coding and documentation. This provider-centric risk adjustment and quality of care solution helps PCPs significantly improve clinical and financial results. Health plans and other risk-bearing entities sponsor the use of Vatica for approved PCPs. Vatica's turnkey solution includes easy-to-use technology and nurses who, prior to a patient visit, conduct an exhaustive search of relevant clinical data in the EMR and synthesize it with data from various sources, including health plans, CMS and specialists. This provides a comprehensive, accurate view of a patient's health so PCPs can efficiently address all relevant conditions and care gaps. PCPs conduct a brief coding and documentation exercise (approximately 3 minutes) to complete the process.
